

From: Ray Wilson
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 11/16/01 10:59am
Subject: Microsoft Settlement ...

I you have sold out the computer using populous with this decision. You have actually accomplishing nothing except using the taxpayers money. The limited restrictions and lack of penalties you have placed on Microsoft will not stop them from continuing to try to dominate the industry, as a case in point look at the Win2000 issues and how much that slowed them up.

They can BUY anyone not cooperating with them or just give stuff away to their competition and by the time anyone can react the damage is done ... just like WinXp.

I am very disappointed in how this entire thing was handled including letting the "buy-out" some of the states ... that was utterly disgusting.

I am very disappointed in what the DOJ managed to accomplish. The cost/benefit ratio was way over on the side of Microsoft on this one. The DOJ could have saved the taxpayers a lot of money by just letting Microsoft have their way, they will anyway.

Thank you for providing a place for people to have their say.

Ray Wilson
Email prw@charter.net